Note the Bright Hours only.

A lesson in itself sublime, A lesson worth enshrining,

Is this . "I take no note of time Save when the sun is shining." These motto words a dist bore, And wisdom never preaches

To human hearts a better lore Than this short sentence teaches As life is sometimes bright and fair, And sometimes durk and lonely,

Let us forget its toil and care, And note to beight hours only. There is no grove on earth's broad chart, But hath some bird to cheer it;

So hope sings on in every heart, Airhough we may not bear it. And if to-day the heavy wind Of sorrow is oppressing,

The weary heart a blessing. For life is sometimes bright and fair, And sometimes dark and lonely ;

Then let's firget its toll and care, and note its firight house only. We but the joyous moments haste, And then forget their glitter ;

We take the cup of life and taste No portion but the bitter ; But we should touck our hearts to deem Its awestest drops the strongest; And pleasant hours should ever seem

To linger around us longest : As life is sometimes bright and fair, And sometimes dark and lonely, Let us forget its toil and care, And note its bright hours only.

The dischast shadows of the night Are just before the overping ; Then let us wait the coming light, All boteless phantoms scorning ; And while we're pussing on the tide Of time's fast abbing river, Let's pluck the blossoms by its side

Ami bless the gracious Giver : As life is sometimes bright and fair. And sometimes dark and lonely, We should forget its pain and care, And note its bright hours only.
